Copy image as data URI

By Umar Hansa Umar is a front-end web developer

```
Timeline
                                           Profiles
    Elements Network Sources
 data-screen-name="umaar">
                                              Styles | Computed
    <imq class="avatar size32" src=</pre> element.style {
    "https://pbs.twimg.com/profile images/803542552/
    me4_normal.jpg" alt data-user-id=
                                                   t1 core.bundle.css:10
    "17207733">
                                            .account-summary .avatar {
    b class="fullname">Umar Hansa
                                               position: absolute;

                                               top: 0;
    dir="ltr">@umaar
                                               left: 0;
    <small class="metadata">
                                            }
                                            .mini- t1 core.bundle.css:7
               View my profile page
                                            profile img { </small>
                                               float: left;

/a>
                                                   t1 core.bundle.css:10
                                            .size32 {
                                               width: 32px;
iv class="js-mini-profile-stats-
ainer">...
                                               height: 32px;
iv class="home-tweet-box tweet-box
                                               border-radius: ► 4px;
onent tweet-user">...
ıfter
                                                   t1_core.bundle.css:10
```

Right click on an image preview within the Resources Panel to copy it as a Data URI (base 64 encoded).

Except as otherwise noted, the content of this page is licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 License, and code samples are licensed under the Apache 2.0 License. For details, see our Site Policies. Java is a registered trademark of Oracle and/or its affiliates.

Last updated July 2, 2018.